FOREVER CLASSICS

Picante

775

Inspired by Mexico's bold flavours, the Picante is a modern creation that balances heat, citrus, and herbal freshness. First crafted at London's Chiltern Firehouse, it has become a favourite among spice lovers worldwide
(Tequila, Agave, Jalapeños, Coriander)

Old Fashioned

775

Dating back to the early 1800s, the Old Fashioned originated at the Pendennis Club in Louisville, Kentucky. A true classic, it embodies the simplicity of whiskey, sugar, bitters, and citrus, evolving with smoky and modern variations
(Smoked Whiskey, Sugar Cube, Aromatic Bitter, Tangerine)

Whiskey Sour

775

First recorded in 1862 by Jerry Thomas, the father of mixology, this timeless cocktail was born out of sailors' need for vitamin C on long voyages. The silky egg white twist became popular in the 20th century
(Whiskey, Lime, Sugar, Egg White, Bitter)

Dirty Martini

775

The classic Martini dates back to the 1860s, but the 'dirty' version, with a splash of olive brine, emerged in the early 1900s. Rumored to be a favorite of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, this cocktail adds a savory twist to an icon
(Vodka, Dry Vermouth, Olive Brine)

Negroni

775

Invented in 1919 by Count Camillo Negroni in Florence, Italy, this bittersweet masterpiece was created when the Count asked for his Americano cocktail to be strengthened with gin instead of soda
(Gin, Campari, Vermouth)

Penicillin

775

A modern classic, this cocktail was crafted in 2005 by Sam Ross at Milk & Honey in New York. A tribute to its name, the blend of smoky whiskey, ginger, and honey is both soothing and invigorating
(Whiskey, Ginger, Honey, Lime)

◆ FOREVER CLASSICS

Boulevardier

775

Created in the 1920s by Erskine Gwynne, an American writer living in Paris, the Boulevardier is a whiskey-based cousin of the Negroni, offering a richer and deeper profile (Whiskey, Campari, Vermouth)

Bramble

775

Invented in the 1980s by London bartender Dick Bradsell, the Bramble is a modern British classic, inspired by the flavors of fresh blackberries picked in the English countryside (Gin, Blackberry Liqueur, Lime)

Bees Knees

775

A product of the Prohibition era, this cocktail was designed to mask the harsh taste of bootleg gin. The phrase 'Bees Knees' was 1920s slang for something outstanding—just like this drink (Gin, Lime, Honey)

Americano

775

First served in the 1860s at Caffè Campari in Milan, this refreshing aperitif was originally called the "Milano-Torino" before becoming a favorite of American tourists—hence, the name "Americano" (Vermouth, Campari, Soda)

Sidecar

775

A cocktail with mysterious origins, it's believed to have been created in Paris during World War I for a guest who arrived in a motorcycle sidecar. This sophisticated blend of brandy, citrus, and orange liqueur has stood the test of time (Brandy, Triple Sec, Lime)

Pisco Sour

775

This South American classic was invented in the 1920s by Victor Morris, an American bartender in Lima, Peru. The velvety foam from the egg white makes it an iconic Peruvian favorite (Pisco, Lime, Sugar, Egg White)
